R. Q. Lawing dead at age 72

The Rev. Raymond Q. Lawing, Sr., a community leader in Appomattox County for nearly half a century, died early Tuesday morning at his home after a long illness. He was 72.

A native of Chesterfield County, Lawing moved to Appomattox shortly after his graduation from Virginia State University in 1932.

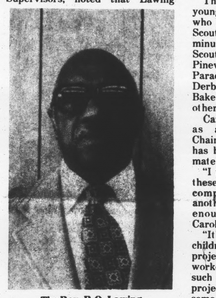
He served as a vocational-agricultural teacher for 45 years, and was pastor of three local churches, Galilee, Promise Land and Mt. Shiloh Baptist, for 32 years.

He was listed in Who's Who in Black America as one of the nation's leading black citizens.

Lawing served in many church, civic and educational organizations, and received many honors and awards attesting to his life's achievements.

He was associated with Virginia State University and the University of Virginia for 45 years.

J. Franklin Vaughan, chairman of the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors, noted that Lawing



The Rev. R.Q. Lawing

"played a tremendous role as the leader of the black community in Appomattox County. He was well respected and liked by all citizens of the county."

Vaughan continued, "His was a vital part in the spiritual, educational and social development of the county during his life."

Vaughan noted that flags in Appomattox County will be flown at half mast until the Rev. Lawing's funeral Saturday.

The Rev. Lawing is survived by his wife, the former Florence Jones; three sons, Leon, Raymond and Timotheous; three daughters, Antionette, Jacqueline and Juanita; eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at Galilee Baptist Church Saturday (Sept. 25) at 1 p.m. West Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Date nears for 1982 festival

With festival weekend rapidly approaching, plans are being finalized for the tenth annual Historic Appomattox Railroad Festival.

The festival, which will be held Oct. 9 and 10, will feature as grand marshall this year Deborah Adair, who plays Jill Foster on the daytime television drama, "The Young and the Restless."

Head conductor for the parade will be Darrell Laurant, popular columnist for the Lynchburg News and Daily Advance newspapers.

The parade is scheduled to begin the festival activities Saturday morning, Oct. 9. Members of the festival committee note that anyone who is interested in entering the parade must register no later than Oct. 1. For information on entering the parade, contact Dot Davidson at 352-7178, or Debbie Rush at 352-5385.

Plans for this year's version of the Joe Sweeney 10K Classic footrace are progressing well, according to the race organizers. A story about this year's race may be found on the sports page of the Times-Virginian this week. A map of the course will be featured in the paper next week.

For information regarding the Sweeney Classic, contact Dickie Smith at 352-8717 after 5 p.m.

Other committee chairmen and their phone numbers are Helen Anderson, music (352-5468); Pat Paulette, arts and crafts (352-7322 after 5 p.m.); Lois Williams, concessions (352-5228 after 5 p.m.); Dot Davidson, clowns (352-7178); Sue Waddell, recreation (352-8639); Bob Jamerson, Depot Journal (352-8443); and Elaine Bollinger, information and registration (352-8617).

The festival steering committee will meet Sept. 30 at the town office at 7:30 p.m. All committee heads are urged to be present.

Support sought for Cub Scouts

By FRANCES PAULETTE

There are approximately 30 young boys in Appomattox County who are participating in the Cub Scout Program and they love every minute of it! They participate in Cub Scout Olympics, Blue-Gold Banquet, Pinewood Derby, Railroad Festival Parade, Skating Parties, Fishing Derby, Hiking, Father-Son Cake Bake, Pack Field Trips and many other activities.

Carolyn Swanberg, now serving as a Cub Scout Committee Chairman, formerly a Den Leader, has been in Scouting for approximately three years.

"I throughly enjoy working with these boys.I have one son who has completed Cub Scouting and another son who is not yet old enough to participate," said Carolyn.

"It's such a good feeling seeing children receiving recognition for projects for which they have worked long and hard. They have such a good time completing their projects," she added. "You know, some of these boys have never had a project like their Scouting work before, and they really enjoy it."

The world of Scouting reaches into the lives of America's youth through fun-filled educational activities. Cub Scouts participate in home-centered,neighborhood activities. They broaden their interests and capabilities with individualized leadership development experiences.

Cub Scouting is the youngest program of The Boy scouts of America. It is a program for boys between the ages of 8 - 10.

"I feel that the time I have spent with the local Cub Scout pack has helped strengthen my relationship with my own sons," said Swanberg.

Roy Servis, who has been active with the Cub Scouting Program in Appomattox, has this to say: "Participation in the Cub Scout Program can be considered from many viewpoints. Two of them are community service and investment of personal time for greatest return."

"The contribution to the community is enough to make your efforts worthwhile. The benefits that the program gives our boys are the kind that can have a far reaching good effect for many years," Servis continued.

"However, the big payoff is the return on your investment of personal time. It takes a few hours per week to prepare for meetings and to meet with the boys. The results are improved communication and understanding with your own children as well as the Cub Scouts. By learning to understand other boys in addition to your own you develop the realization that their outlook and their problems are very similar to your own at the same age. Your relationship with your own children can improve from your experience as an adult leader in Scouting," he concluded.

Stella Carter, Den Leader is enthusiastic about Cub Scouting.

"Being a Cub Scout leader gives me personal satisfaction knowing that I have had a hand in helping Cub Scouts learn to help each other and not to be selfish, but to be kind, loyal, honest and to grow spiritually, mentally and physically."

"It is up to us as parents, neighbors and friends to guide our Cub Scouts to be future leaders of our community and country. When we have done our part, we then can set back knowing we have had a hand in helping to shape and mold the lives of these young boys in the way God would have them develop. If we cannot take one hour a week to devote to our Cub Scouts then we have no one to blame for the way they turn out but ourselves. So, come on,let's stay young and have some fun with our Cub Scouts!", she concluded.

School night for Scouting will be held on September 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Appomattox Elementary School Auditorium. At this time any boys between the ages of 8 through 10 years can join Cub Scouting.

There is an urgent need for leaders in the local Pack 546. Without leadership the pack will not be able to continue.

There are openings for Cubmaster, Den Leaders, Committee Members, Webelos Leader and any volunteers who would like to help.

For further information contact Mrs. Carolyn Swanberg at 352-7095.

Boy Scout sign-up slated for tonight

Tonight (Thursday) is Boy Scout Night in Appomattox County, according to Ron Steinkamp, Appomattox County Boy Scout leader.

"This is our fall round-up activity," according to Steinkamp. "Our goal is to get as many new boys into scouting as possible."

The fall round-up will be kicked off with a special program tonight at St. Anne's Episcopal Church on Oakleigh Avenue. Steinkamp says the program is open to any boys, age 11 and up.

"The boys can bring their parents along, too, so they can be introduced to scouting as well," Steinkamp says.

Appomattox Boy Scout Troop 546 is sponsored by the Appomattox Lions Club and is open to all boys, age 11 and up.

Town taxes due Sept. 30

Citizens of the Town of Appomattox are reminded that the deadline for town taxes is September 30, 1982.

A five percent penalty will be added to taxes not paid by September 30, 1982.

For the convenience of taxpayers, the Town Office will be open Saturday, September 25, 1982, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Agricultural safety emphasized

With harvest time at hand, the agricultural community of Appomattox County joins that of the nation in observing Farm Safety Week, designated by President Reagan as Sept. 19-25.

The Farm Safety Week theme for 1982 is "Make it a Safe Harvest."

In a proclamation regarding Farm Safety Week, Reagan noted that last year more than 400,000 farm and ranch residents were injured, many of them fatally, in accidents.

Of those accidents, approximately 1,900 resulted in death, and 190,000 resulted in disabling injuries, according to the National Safety Council.

The Appomattox County Extension Office encourages farm owners and operators to be safety conscious through the year. Farm accidents may, and do, occur at any time during the growing season but are more likely to occur during the harvest season.

According to Mr. Ray Noble of the Appomattox Rescue Squad, most farm accidents requesting assistance from the squad are serious in nature. The Appomattox Rescue Squad conducted a farm machinery safety demonstration at the Hix Brothers Dairy during this summer's Farm Management Tour to help farmers become more aware of the dangers of farm machinery.

Although serious farm accidents may be rare in occurence, there are many minor accidents, cuts, bruises, etc. that cause the loss of valuable time from farm work. Many of these minor accidents are self-treated or treated by local physicians.

From working with chemicals to operating harvesting equipment, the farmer is faced daily with a variety of health and safety hazards. And, the farmer must be conscious of safety hazards at home and away from work, as well, warns the NSC.

Noting that the people of this nation and the world rely on U. S. farmers for food, President Reagan stated in his proclamation regarding Farm Safety Week:

"I call upon those who live and work on the nation's farms and ranches to commit themselves to the safe conduct of all their activities, both on and off the job."

There is a time in a baseball game called The Seventh Inning Stretch. It arrives after the game has been going on an hour or so and everyone feels the need to arise and stretch, loosen cramped muscles and get ready for the big rally and excitement of the last times at bat. Seems to me Appomattox is in the midst of a Seventh Inning Stretch. We have had the big goings on of summer and all the rush and commotion of school opening. Family reunions and church revivals and camps, and now we are taking it a bit easy before the annual big push toward Thanksgiving and Christmas. Actually, we are not Dullsville. The ACHS football team is undefeated and has a state ranking in its class. Liberty (Bedford) plays here Friday and that means another big game. And the girls' basketball team is winning. Ruby Smith and Sandra Watkins score lots of points.

The name James Madison ranks high in Virginia. Our fourth President was James Madison and he was one of the best. And his wife, Dolly Madison is equally famous, one of the great First Ladies. Now, move over for James Madison University. It is one of our top schools, but now has won attention in football. Walloped the Cavaliers of University of Virginia and in football we may have a "Big Six" instead of a "Big Five."

From the notepad: Cumberland County has the lowest property tax rate in Virginia . . . Memorial United Methodist Church had a highly successful Homecoming Day Sunday . . . there is an Appomattox Street in Richmond . . . State Fair of Virginia going on in Richmond until October 3 . . . any chinquapins this year?

* *

A friend has loaned me a copy of The People's Almanac. Said might take me until Christmas to read it and could be he's right for it is some 1500 pages of fine print. Almanacs are very useful. First one said to have been published in the 12th century. First one in America was "An Alumnack for the Year of Our Lord 1639, calculated for New England" by William Pierce. A bit later Poor Richard's Almanack, started by Benjamin Franklin, who signed it with the name Richard Saunders. The Old Farmer's Almanac started in 1793. And there have been many others, but the one I have on my desk is surely one of the largest.

I would not know anything about the biggest fish ever caught in Appomattox County, but have been reading of some whoppers landed recently in and off Virginia coastal waters. Such as a 52-pound channel bass, a 158-pound sandbar shark. Plus fine catches of spot, trout and "flatties" (flounder). I could go for some good seafood... such as clam fritters for breakfast!

A letter from a longtime reader, in the morning's mail, gives me material for a special column next week. Want to guess about the Indian word "Wechachochapohka?" Thanks for reading and seeya around.

Mann wins grid contest

William "Stick" Mann edged three other contestants in a tiebreaker to win last week's version of the Times-Virginian football contest.

Mann missed accurately predicting the outcomes of only two of the high school and college football games in the contest. Mark Marshall, Brett Marston and John W. Canada also missed only two of the games. However in the tiebreaker, where contestants attempt to predict the exact scores of two of the contest games, Mann's predictions were closer to the actual scores of the games than the other three players involved in the tie.

* *

Mark Marshall's score predictions were the second closest to the actual game scores and qualified him as the second-place winner.

Eight contestants were in the running, each missing accurately predicting the outcomes of three of the contest games. They included Robert Miller, Tom Cobb, Phil Coleman, Ron Guill, Steve Marshall, William Layne, Peggy Marshall, and Doug Marshall.

A total of 95 contestants exercised their soothsaying abilities in last week's football contest.

For his prowess in predicting the outcome of high school and college football contests, Mann will receive a check for $20 from the Times-Virginian and a free chicken dinner from the Chicken Palace Restaurant. Marshall will receive a check for $10 and a free chicken dinner from the Chicken Palace for placing second in the contest.

The football contest, a popular autumn feature of the Times-Virginian for the past several years, continues in this week's issue. Full details on rules and prizes of the contest can be found inside the paper.

Boosters to meet

There will be a meeting of the Appomattox County High School Athletic Boosters Club Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the ACHS library.

All members and other interested persons are urged to attend this meeting.

Youth dies in accident

One person was killed and another critically injured in an auto accident early Sunday morning about a mile south of the Town of Appomattox on Route 727.

James Allen Woody, 18, a senior at Appomattox County High School, died instantly or shortly after the car he was driving left the road and struck a tree about 1:45 a.m. Sunday, according to Virginia State Police.

A passenger in the car, Howard Tracy Goin, 17, was listed in critical condition at Lynchburg General Hospital early this week as a result of injuries sustained in the accident.

There were no other passengers in the car.

The car overturned and came to rest at the bottom of a small embankment after hitting the tree, according to police.

The cause of the accident is under investigation.

Known as "Hooty" to his friends, Woody is survived by his parents, James E. Woody and Nancy O'Brien Woody; a sister, Sharon Louise Woody; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. O'Brien; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Percy Carter, all of Appomattox.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday from New Hope Baptist Church by the Rev. Bob Williams, with burial in the church cemetery.

Lions meet tonight

The Appomattox Lions Club will meet this Thursday night (Sept. 23) at 6:45 p.m. in Maude's Restaurant.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Jean Hesson, general supervisor for Appomattox County Schools.
